

NewsWireToday - /newswire/ - Belfast, Antrim, Ireland, 04/14/2009 -

Innovative technology leader, PosiMotion, are focussed on developing and designing break through applications for Apple's iPhone and iPod touch and have recently launched their latest consumer offering - the award winning G-Fi and G-Fi VS products.

G-Fi combines GPS and Wi-Fi in one small, sleek package. With the introduction of G-Fi you are no longer limited to Bluetooth connectivity when it comes to selecting a wireless GPS solution for all of your modern devices. G-Fi is a secure wireless GPS network router. Multiple Wi-Fi enabled devices within range can join the G-Fi network and simultaneously receive secured location data with military precision. G-Fi is also a tracking device. Want to keep track of your child or pet's location? The G-Fi will stay connected to your device for over 100 feet! Since the G-Fi operates over a Wi-Fi connection (not Bluetooth), it is capable of communicating to your device at an outstanding range. Forgot where the car is parked? The G-Fi will allow drivers to find their car in any complex situation. Whether it's dense, unfamiliar cities, sporting events or theme parks, the G-Fi can automatically mark the position of the car to ensure a safe return, regardless of distance.

For serious gamers, the G-Fi VS completely wireless gaming hub is an essential piece of kit. Use this device with anyone, anywhere to hook up your wireless devices and compete head-to-head with a variety of games ranging from mobile phones to the PC. Forget the hassle of traditional hubs or switches when you're on the go or at a serious LAN party. Its simple and compact design will allow you to carry it anywhere without dragging all that extra load with you. The built in lithium-ion battery ensures mobile operation for the extent of your gaming pleasure. Whether you're on a road trip, in an airplane, or in the middle of the desert, the G-Fi VS is a must have for any true gamer.

The products are available now from Cooltopia and Lee Harris, CEO Cooltopia, is delighted. 'Posimotion's ethos has always been to enhance the end user experience for fans of the Apple iPod and iPhone and they have definitely been successful in achieving this with the G-Fi and G-Fi VS products. Cooltopia.com always strive to bring consumers the most original and up-to-date gadgets and Posimotion's products fit perfectly with this philosophy'.

By creating this range of Apple iPhone and iPod Touch applications, Posimotion have succeeded in creating practical and inventive solutions for consumers at an affordable price.

Cooltopia.com will be demonstrating the Posimotion G-Fi and G-Fi VS products at stand no. D61, The Gadget Show Live - Birmingham, NEC, 17th - 19th April.